Opioids play an important role in pain management. Unfortunately, the dramatic increase in opioid use has resulted in an opioid-related epidemic of addiction and death. The CDC reported that more people die in America every year from prescription drug abuse than die from heroin and cocaine combined.

Course objectives:

- Recognize the scale and scope of prescription drug abuse in the US and Oregon.
- Evaluate risk factors that may lead to prescription drug abuse.
- Outline a pain evaluation and management plan.
- Develop strategies to educate patients concerning management of pain.
